SPECIALTY AREAS OF HR

The practice of human resources spans several specialty areas that play a critical role in providing responsive, compliant, and efficient day-to-day services that advance an inclusive, fair, and safe work environment. Guided by both state and federal laws, the specialty areas of labor relations, compensation, disability accommodation, and violence prevention ensure that practices follow the spirit of employment laws and UW policies.

LABOR RELATIONS

Labor Relations is constantly balancing competing interests and navigating complex legal and political environments. Guided by the responsibility to uphold the integrity and financial viability of the University and doing right by our employees, the team fosters long-term and productive working relationships with labor unions and contract implementation training for supervisors and managers.

Covering 18,105 UW employees

- 9 unions
- 30 bargaining units
- 12 unique union contracts
- 172 union information requests (CY17)
- 147 union grievances (CY17)
- 9 unfair labor practice disputes (CY17)

NOTE: In 2018, SAG/AFTA will represent approximately 50-60 staff at KUOW with contract negotiations scheduled to begin in March 2018. The UAW has petitioned to represent approximately 1100 fellows and research associates and an election will be held in early spring 2018.

DISABILITY SERVICES

For individuals with disabilities, the Disability Services Office provides an array of accommodation services as part of UW’s effort to create and sustain an inclusive environment.

DSO’S SERVICES INCLUDE:

- Analyzing essential job functions and assisting in the implementation of accommodations for staff and faculty.
- Consulting on provision of assistive equipment and adaptive technology.
- Conducting the search for alternative job placements in lieu of separation for qualified employees who are no longer able to perform the essential functions of their position, but are able to work at least 50% in another capacity.
- Providing deaf and hard of hearing service provision for students, staff, faculty, and members of the public participating in UW-sponsored programs and activities.
- Coordinating disability accommodations for non-matriculated students: those students taking courses primarily through Continuum College, Certificate Programs, International and English Language Programs, Online Learning, and Summer Youth Programs.
SAFECAMPUS: VIOLENCE PREVENTION AND RESPONSE

UWHR’s SafeCampus plays a critical role in campus safety and wellbeing through the early identification, assessment, and triage of concerning behaviors that may lead to potentially violent outcomes. The program fosters strong connections among campus partners and provides a central point of contact, available 24x7, for individuals to report concerns about suicide or violence that might affect members of the UW community.

SafeCampus’ Services Include:

- Offering consultation and support for University of Washington staff, faculty, and students regarding safety concerns
- Providing on-going threat assessment and case management services to address potentially dangerous situations
- Convening campus partners to develop coordinated responses to complex safety situations
- Serving as the central reporting office for Title IX disclosures regarding sexual misconduct; for example, relationship violence, stalking, sexual harassment, sexual assault, and sexual exploitation
- Serving on committees throughout UW to promote collaboration and bring a violence prevention perspective to campus conversations, initiatives, and policies
- Providing tailored violence prevention and response education across the UW

The SafeCampus team regularly works in collaboration with University Academic Departments, UW Bothell campus, UW Tacoma Campus, Title IX Coordinators, Student Life Health & Wellness, Community Standards & Student Conduct, Counseling Center, Hall Health, UWPD, HR Operations, Academic HR, Attorney General’s Office, and UW CareLink.

COMPENSATION

The most significant contributions of Compensation happen behind the scenes, but are critical to the University's efforts to attract and retain quality staff while maintaining compliance with federal, state, and local laws, regulations, and policies.

For the UW's 10,000-plus professional staff jobs, Compensation uses market data to create pay structures that execute the University’s pay philosophy of balancing internal equity and external competitiveness. The pay structures provide a unifying, central framework that guards against significant differences in pay for the same work, whether in the College of Arts & Sciences, School of Medicine, UW Bothell or Tacoma, or in the academic medical centers.

For classified staff, Compensation collects and analyzes market data and administers salary plans that balance external competitiveness and internal equity to ensure that similar jobs are placed in appropriately comparable salary ranges.

COMPENSATION STAFF ALSO:

• Develop and administer compensation and classification programs that help the UW attract, retain, and motivate our workforce.

• Advise senior leaders on reorganizations, and guide them in creating organizational structures and positions that comply with Washington state law.

• Partner with Labor Relations to provide cost estimates and policy guidance on pay and classification

• Vigilantly apply federal overtime law under the Fair Labor Standards Act.

• Provide reliable and accurate market data on salaries for jobs at all levels.

• Expedite approvals for competitive offers with due diligence on market and internal equity considerations.
THE PEOPLE BEHIND UWHR

We like to think of human resources as “the people behind the people.” We strive to ensure that the right people are in the right positions at the right time with the right benefits and support systems in place to achieve great things. Behind our HR leaders, consultants, and specialists, are two teams that are the “people behind UWHR.”

As part of UW Medicine HR Operations, the Workforce Management Systems (WMS) team serves the medical centers by facilitating new hires through background checks and onboarding; maintaining employee data in Workday and fulfilling the role of Workday subject matter expert; providing workforce reporting; and acting as their HR liaison with the Integrated Service Center.

Serving both campus and the medical centers, HR Information Systems (HRIS) provides our department and the UW community with tools, guidance, and systems support to manage HR information in a secure, efficient, and effective manner. In addition to serving as UWHR’s technical liaison to the Integrated Service Center, HRIS also provides information systems planning and integration, including case management solutions for labor, violence prevention, disability services, benefits, compensation and employee relations, and the event registration system for The Whole U.
