DEFINITIONS

Direct Report: A direct report is an employee who reports directly to a manager, supervisor, or person in a leadership role. The manager is directly responsible for their performance, work assignments, and development.

Indirect Report: An indirect report is an employee who reports to someone who is a direct report of the manager. While the manager doesn't directly manage the indirect report, they are still responsible for their performance and the overall success of the team.

Lead work definition: A lead employee has delegated responsibility for training; assigning, organizing or scheduling work; and reviewing completed work assignments. A lead worker does not make hiring decisions, conduct formal job performance evaluations or have the authority to decide that a disciplinary action recommendation will be prepared.

Supervisory definition: A supervisor has the authority to hire staff, establish job performance standards, evaluate job performance, and take corrective action if performance is not acceptable. Supervisors are also responsible for training, assigning and scheduling work, and acting upon leave requests.
